

October 2007

Business Conduct Policy

Dear valued supplier,

Let us take this opportunity to acquaint you with the AstraZeneca AB Business Conduct Policy.

Our policy states that we shall conduct our business activities in a lawful and ethical manner; dealing professionally with suppliers, contractors, consultants, and being completely fair and equitable.

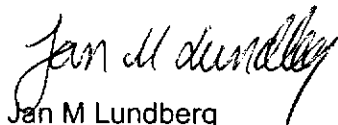

The policy prohibits acceptance or receipt by any AstraZeneca colleague, any member of the colleague's immediate family, or anyone designated by the colleague, of any gift, gratuity, entertainment or other item of more than token or nominal monetary value from the Company's suppliers, and such occasions must be infrequent in nature. Minor items of promotional nature (valued at less than $25.00) such as a pen or calendar may be accepted, but any other gift is unacceptable.

We view all colleagues' attendance at supplier-sponsored events as a business function with a real business purpose. Invitations to lavish or inappropriate entertainment should not be offered.

We request that you cooperate with the intent and spirit of our policy on business conduct and avoid any potentially embarrassing situations.

We thank you in anticipation of your cooperation.

Sincerely

Jan M Lundberg
President & CEO, AstraZeneca AB